The Department of English: from the Seeds

‘Historians’ of St. Albert’s College such as Prof Premus Perinchery, Former Head, Department of Oriental Languages, tells us that the college started in the twin Gothic style buildings of St. Albert’s School on 16 July 1946, a year before Indian independence. It is not clear if an English Department existed in those hazy days. However, the college was shifted to the present campus in 1951, even though the work of the new building was incomplete as yet.

The Department of English has always been blessed with resourceful faculty members right from its inception to the present. The Late Prof K.J.S Cleetus, father of our former Principal Prof Harry Cleetus and one of the students of the first batch of St. Albert’s College mentions Rev. Fr. A team of first year Post Graduate English students showcased a powerful theme putting up a stall based on the violence against men and women in the world for the Albertian International Expo conducted by the college on the 9th, 10th and 11th of January, 2020. The team, through their three-day stall, raised their voices against the violence that was, and is still prevalent in the society against people irrespective of their age or gender through newspaper cut outs, inspiring books especially ones penned by rape victims, that spoke aloud about unspoken and hidden truths. The thousands that came in to witness the Expo, especially the school children, were left inspired, with a thought-provoking message in their minds to react against unjust socio-cultural practices.

EXPO – II MA ENGLISH – FACT/FAKE

The students of II MA English put up a stall that went by the title Fact/Fake. The installation put up was based on the theory of Post-truth. Post-truth is a term that breeds to evoke an emotional rejoinder to the use of emotion to drive new political dynamics. It suggests that there once was truth, but we as a polity have relinquished it in favor of lies that appeal to our emotional inclinations. In the era of post-truth, the query on truth forms a discourse that comes across ideological questions such as what is real, what is truth, what is fact and what is authenticity.

Students took turns to explain to the visitors, the ideas showcased in the stall.
